Your child at this stage may be just taking his/her first steps in his educational journey. This questionnaire is to stimulate one's thoughts into looking at one's expectations, and to help parents think deeply on the subject of CHILD & SCHOOL.

As a parent kindly answer the following:

1. What proportion of studies, sports and cultural activities would you prefer?
(Tick Your Choice)

2. If your child has a passionate interest in something other than studies will you:

----- Encourage it as long as it is secondary to studies.
----- Actively encourage it.
----- Find it unnecessary to encourage it.

3. Your neighbour's child (A) comes first in studies; another neighbour's child (B) is an excellent Bharat Natyam dancer. Will you ask your child to?

----- Follow A's footsteps.
----- Follow his own footsteps and be good at it.
----- Follow B's footprints.

4. Choose 5 qualities from this box which you think is essential for your child to have.
(Circle your choices)

Friendly	Competitive	Courteous	Aggressive	Helpful
Responsible	Hardworking	Creative	Environmental conscious
Brave/Bold	Civic-minded	Playful	Sense of justice	Affectionate

5. Psychologist Howard Gardner identified the following distinct types of intelligences. They are listed here. Please tick any three that you feel may best suit your child.

- Linguistics: children with this kind of intelligence enjoy writing, reading, telling stories and doing crossword puzzles.
- Logical-Mathematical: Children with a lot of intelligence that are interested in patterns, categories and relationships. They are drawn to arithmetic problems, strategy games and experiments.
- Bodily-Kinesthetic: These children process knowledge through bodily sensations; they are often athletic, dancers or good at craft such as sewing or woodwork.
- Spatial: These children think in images and pictures. they may be fascinated with mazes and jigsaw puzzles. They also enjoy spending free time drawing, building with blocks or day dreaming.
- Musical: Musical children are always drumming or singing to themselves. They are aware of sounds that others may miss. They are often discriminating listeners.
- Interpersonal: These children may be shy. They are very aware of their feelings and are self motivated.
